Welcome to Synergy Group

I'm proud to lead an organisation that's 100% Australian-owned and dedicated to making positive change.

For 25 years, Synergy Group has worked with government, establishing itself as one of Australia's most trusted professional services firms. In 2024 we expanded nationally, and now we have a 400-strong team of specialists in Canberra, Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane.

We have a strong and positive culture at Synergy Group. Our motto, 'It's personal', means that we never shy away from a helpful conversation and always prioritise the wellbeing of people in our workplace, with our clients, and in our wider communities.

Our greatest successes happen when we put people at the centre of everything we do; our relationships within our team are vibrant and values-led, and our interactions with clients are tailored to their unique needs.

We offer full end-to-end services to public sector organisations. No matter whether you need strategy, design thinking, transformation, or ongoing management assistance with your programs, Synergy Group tackles some of the nation's most complex challenges. Our work makes a tangible difference to Australia's public services, Australian communities, and individuals.

Robert Kennedy
National Chief Executive Officer

Our Signature Services

Complex Co-Design

Co-design is about designing with, not for, the people most affected by an issue. We bring together the right voices – those with lived experience, technical expertise, policy knowledge, and perspectives from diverse stakeholder groups. In complex, uncertain environments, we take co-design further: convening interdisciplinary expertise, engaging in systems thinking, and iterating toward shared solutions.

Citizen-Centric Design

Government services are woven into every facet of our lives, but using them isn't always straightforward. We bridge the gap between policy intent and lived reality, building services, programs, and policies that prioritise the needs and experiences of citizens.

System Innovation

Our world is constantly changing. Technological disruption, climate challenges, geopolitical uncertainty, and social transformation are putting pressure on the systems we rely on. However, every system holds hidden strengths and untapped potential. We connect ideas, people, and data to surface opportunities buried within policies, services, markets, and communities.

Our Core Capabilities

Research and Insights: We uncover deep human and system insights to inform smarter decisions, drive innovation, and measure impact.

Futures and Transitions: We help organisations anticipate change, imagine possible futures, and build the strategies and coalitions to navigate them.

Regulatory Design: We co-design adaptive, human-centred regulation that supports compliance, responds to risk, and earns community trust.

Service Design: We design services that are effective and centred on the real needs of users and the ecosystems they navigate.

Organisation Design: We help transform organisations into adaptive, connected systems by aligning strategy, people, structures, and culture.

Synergy Consulting

Synergy Consulting was the first pillar in the Synergy Group family, and we've been going strong for 25 years. We amplify organisational efficiency and public trust, streamlining systems and helping Government agencies plan, design, manage, source, and co-create resilient, future-ready enterprises.

Whether it's empowering your organisation to transform, be digitally enabled, data-driven, and securely automated, or improve your financial performance, provide confidence in your risk and assurance practices, or support legally defensible outcomes, we work with you to deliver the best solution to your needs.
